

Mowgli

Kaa:

In the jungle's eyes,
I can see the past, and the future,
It is I, Kaa

Kaa:

I witnessed the coming of man and the jungle trying to survive,
I saw darkness and chaos come to our lands

Kaa:

I saw the tiger, Shere Khan, killing man,
Breaking the jungle's ancient law

Kaa:

I saw the jungle place its hope into the hands of a small creature,
The like of which it had never seen before

Vibaan:

I've never seen a man-cub! It's so small,
It doesn't fear us

Shere Khan:

The cub is mine! I already tasted its mother's blood.
It is my right!

Akela:

The cub is one of us. The pack will teach him as you would your own,
As long as I am alive, the pack will stand by the man-cub

Mowgli:

How old is the jungle, Bagheera?

Bagheera:

It has been there since before you were born,
It will be there here after you die,
The jungle is eternal

Mowgli:

Bagheera, why am I different to the other wolves?

Bagheera:

You're no different, you are special

Baloo:

In the running, Bagheera will hunt you,
If he catches you, you fall

Mowgli:

What happens if you fail?

Baloo:

You don't join the pack!

Akela:

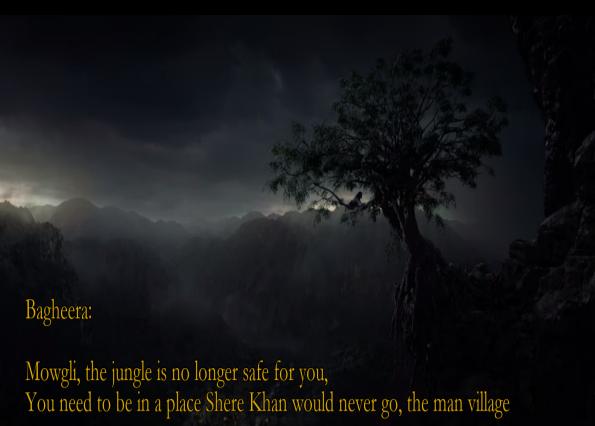

The jungle is changing,
Man is taking more of it as each season passes,
The boy may just be our only hope of survival

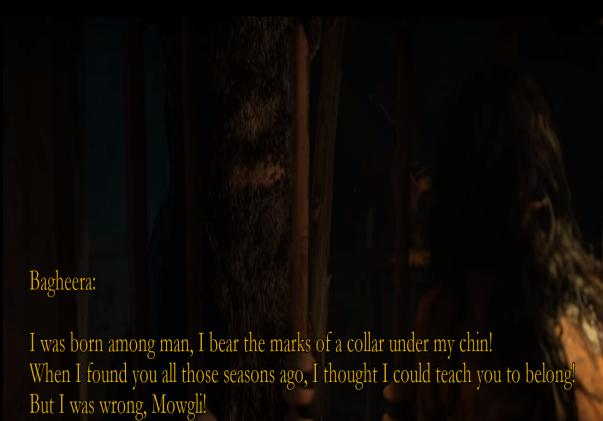

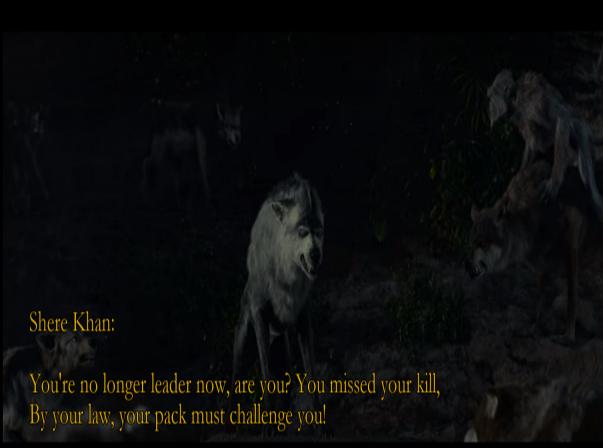

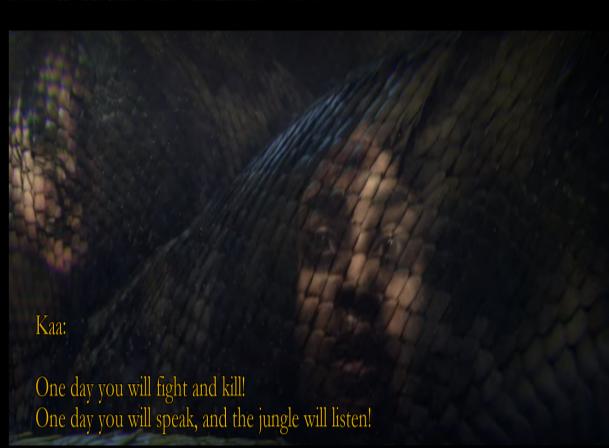

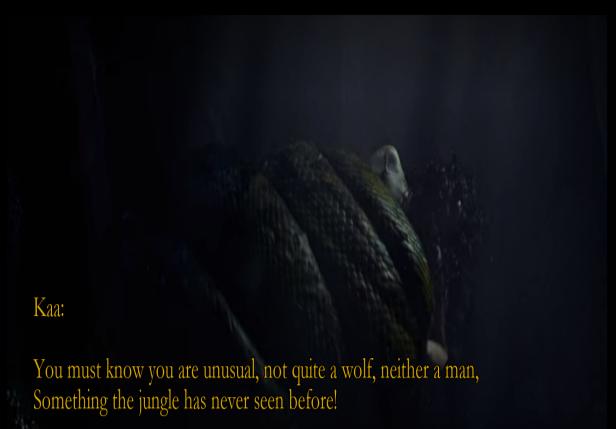

Mowgli:

Do you know why those men have come to the jungle?

Bagheera:

They've come to hunt the tiger that steals their cattle

Bagheera:

I spent my entire life fighting, until one day I just stopped,
I gained their trust, gain their trust, Mowgli!

Brother Wolf:

Hello, Mowgli! You look different!
I'm here because of Shere Khan! He's taken over, we had to leave home

Brother Wolf:

We've been pushed to the very edge of the jungle,
The pack needs you, Mowgli! Please come home!

Mowgli:

Akela, we must kill the tiger!
I'm not bound by the laws of the jungle anymore!

Akela:

When you were a cub, I knew you would bring peace to the jungle,
But you have become a man now

Mowgli:

I'm not a man, neither am I a wolf.

Mowgli:

Sleep now, Shere Khan!
Be angry no more!